What country music tour would be complete without honoring the Queen of Country Music, Loretta Lynn? Our next stop will be at Loretta Lynn's Ranch in Hurricane Mills, Tennessee. "In 1966, Loretta and Mooney, (Loretta's deceased husband Doolittle "Mooney" Lynn) stumbled upon this little town while looking for another piece of property and found the big house on the hill," related Anthony Brutto, the general manager of Loretta Lynn's Ranch and her grandson. "It was kind of dilapidated, but Loretta fell in love with it. Once they found out who owned the home, they also found out that that person also owned the town of Hurricane Mills. The only way the Lynns could buy the house was to purchase everything, so they bought the whole town." Tour the antebellum home and Coal Miner's Daughter Museum and visit the shops in Western Town.

Next, we will head over to the amphitheater at Loretta Lynn's ranch for dinner and a show with Twitty and Lynn. Conway Twitty's grandson, Tre, and Loretta Lynn's granddaughter, Tayla, will bring a wonderful tribute to their famous grandparents. Taking over from the Ryman Auditorium The Opry House gave the show more space and the facilities necessary to grow and evolve. The Opry family began welcoming more giants like The Gatlin Brothers, John Conlee, Ricky Skaggs, Lorrie Morgan, Reba McEntire, Randy Travis, and Patty Loveless.
